Jaclyn Collier, City Clerk

Administrative Remedies must be exhausted prior to action being initiated in a court of law. If you challenge City Council action in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at a public hearing described in this notice/agenda, or in written correspondence delivered to the City Clerk of the City of Colfax at, or prior to, said public hearing.

These are a few of the issues that will need to be addressed in order to permit cannabis microbusiness:

1. Ordinance 536, which provides for medicinal commercial cannabis sales, will have to be amended to allow the activities Jim Dion wants to engage in. At present, Ordinance 536 prohibits the commercial manufacture, processing, storing, testing, labeling, sale, delivery, distribution or transportation of cannabis or cannabis products. CMC 5.32.030.
2. Adult use retail cannabis activities are not allowed in Colfax. The Council was very clear in its direction to allow only one medicinal cannabis retailer. The current ordinances will have to be changed to allow adult use retail cannabis activities and define their scope.
3. Ordinance 535 outlaws commercial cultivation of cannabis. See CMC 17.162.060, which incorporates cultivation in the definition of commercial cannabis activity. CMC 17.162.060 and Chapter 5.32 will have to be amended to allow limited commercial cannabis cultivation.
4. The cannabis regulations the City adopted after Ordinances 535 and 536 do not address microbusinesses, cannabis cultivation, manufacture, adult use retail cannabis stores or cannabis delivery. Regulations will have to be developed and adopted simultaneously with the changes to the City's ordinance. This will include adopting an updated fee structure and enforcement process.

This only begins the inquiry. Some of the issues that need to be addressed are already contained within the existing ordinances, but many are not. Colfax would be wise to retain an outside consultant to assist it in amending its ordinances and developing the revised fee structure. I do not have much of a feel for what that will cost, but I would not budget less than $25,000, and more likely $50,000, to move this forward.
